Dedication

This year, 1977, the fiftieth edition of the La Saltianna has been successfully published and distributed to the student body of Saltsburg, as well as the community itself. As you glance through it now or reminisce over it in the future, consider the time, effort and energy that has been put into creating this book of memories that many will cherish forever.

The task of creating this collection of the year's events, the people involved, the places it all happened and the fond memories it brings, is not an easy one. However, it was far easier for the yearbook staff today compared to the job done by the earlier staffs. In previous La Saltiannas each page had to be hand typed, the pictures hand pasted into place, one page, one book at a time!

It is to this intense spirit of dedication that has been exhibited, through the years by the La Saltianna staffs of past, that we, the 1977 La Saltianna staff dedicate, our yearbook, to the yearbook staffs of the past for dillegently creating, usually by hand, books that are still being looked through and remembered today. And also we dedicate our 1977 La Saltianna to the yearbook staffs of the future in hope they carry on this tradition for another fifty years of creating books full of memories that will be cherished forever by all who own them.

The picture at the top of the page shows the 1934 yearbook staff while the bottom photo shows a possible staff of the future.

Now And Then

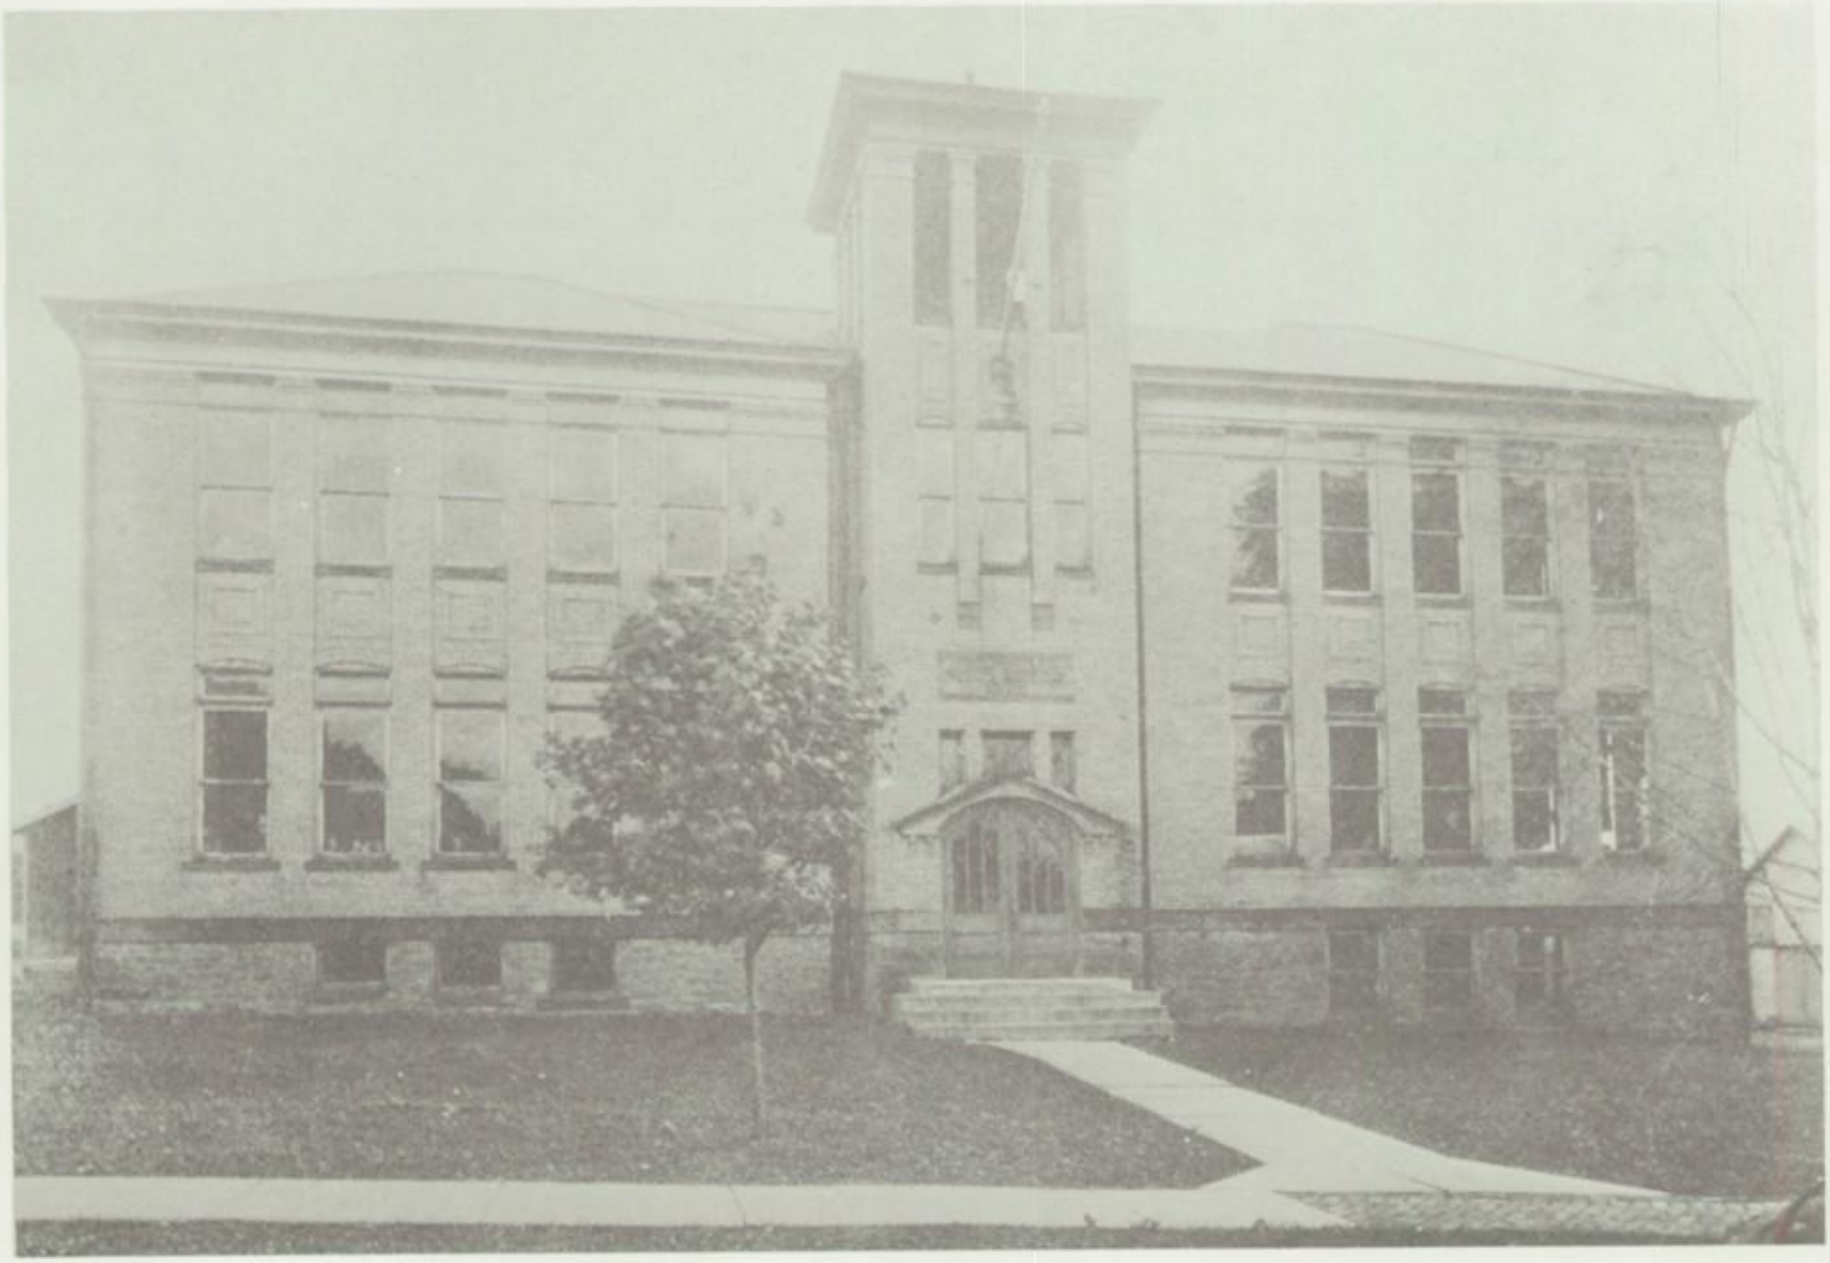
In this, the La Saltianna's fiftieth year, we thought it only fair to include a special section reflecting upon the past fifty years of Saltsburg High School.

As you can see at the bottom of the page the school itself hasn't changed in forty-nine years, a year after the first La Saltianna was published. Of course a few modern alterations have been made, a new addition of a library, hallway and Mr. Gasperini's room (41). An iron rail fence now surrounds the front lawn of the school and pine trees and bushes are scattered about the lawn. And, of course the school bell which began and ended, the school day in the past is no longer an integral part of Saltsburg High School.

However, including the few modernizations mentioned above, the building that is and has been Saltsburg High School remains virtually the same. It is still the beautiful yellow brick building atop Saltsburg hill. Its function remains the same also, to supply the young adults of Saltsburg and surrounding communities with continual education, sports programs, a social eye, and a place to spend six years growing, changing, learning, and meeting friends who will be special to you always.

Yes, although the building has been modernized in past years the function of Saltsburg High School remains the same and in this time of indecisiveness-wondering what will become of it, we should consider and be thankful of what it has been to the community of Saltsburg.

Saltsburg High School 1928



Some things change very little such as our stage/gymnasium and auditorium as seen here in 1976 and opposite below as seen in 1937.

The interior, the classrooms of Saltsburg High School have seen many changes, alterations and additions in the past fifty years.

What is now the bottom floor of the school, the hallway which familiarlly leads us to Mrs. Compton's room, Mrs. Coulson's room, the art room and either of the locker rooms, was then, fifty years ago, a dirt cellar! The dirt packed floor with the gentle down hill slope has been paved over with cement and asphalt tile. The room at the end of the beginning of this remodeled hallway has been drastically remodeled. This room was once filled with the homemakers of tomorrow, it was then the home economics room. It was complete with porcelain stoves with various drawers that opened with black wrought iron handles. The sinks were big and awkward, its rusting pipes in full view. In the corner of the room sat a huge heavy looking white "Frigidaire" ice-box.

Now, when in one of Mrs. Compton's reading classes there is no trace of a home economics classroom. No smell of freshly baked or burning cookies. The only hint found in the reading room are the numerous electrical outlets scattered around the room. It's amazing that there is no trace of laughing voices attempting to create the world's best lemon merinque pie or the cookies permently burnt onto the trays. No sign, just the quietness of students reading their assignments without thought of what this room was like then, only of how it is now.

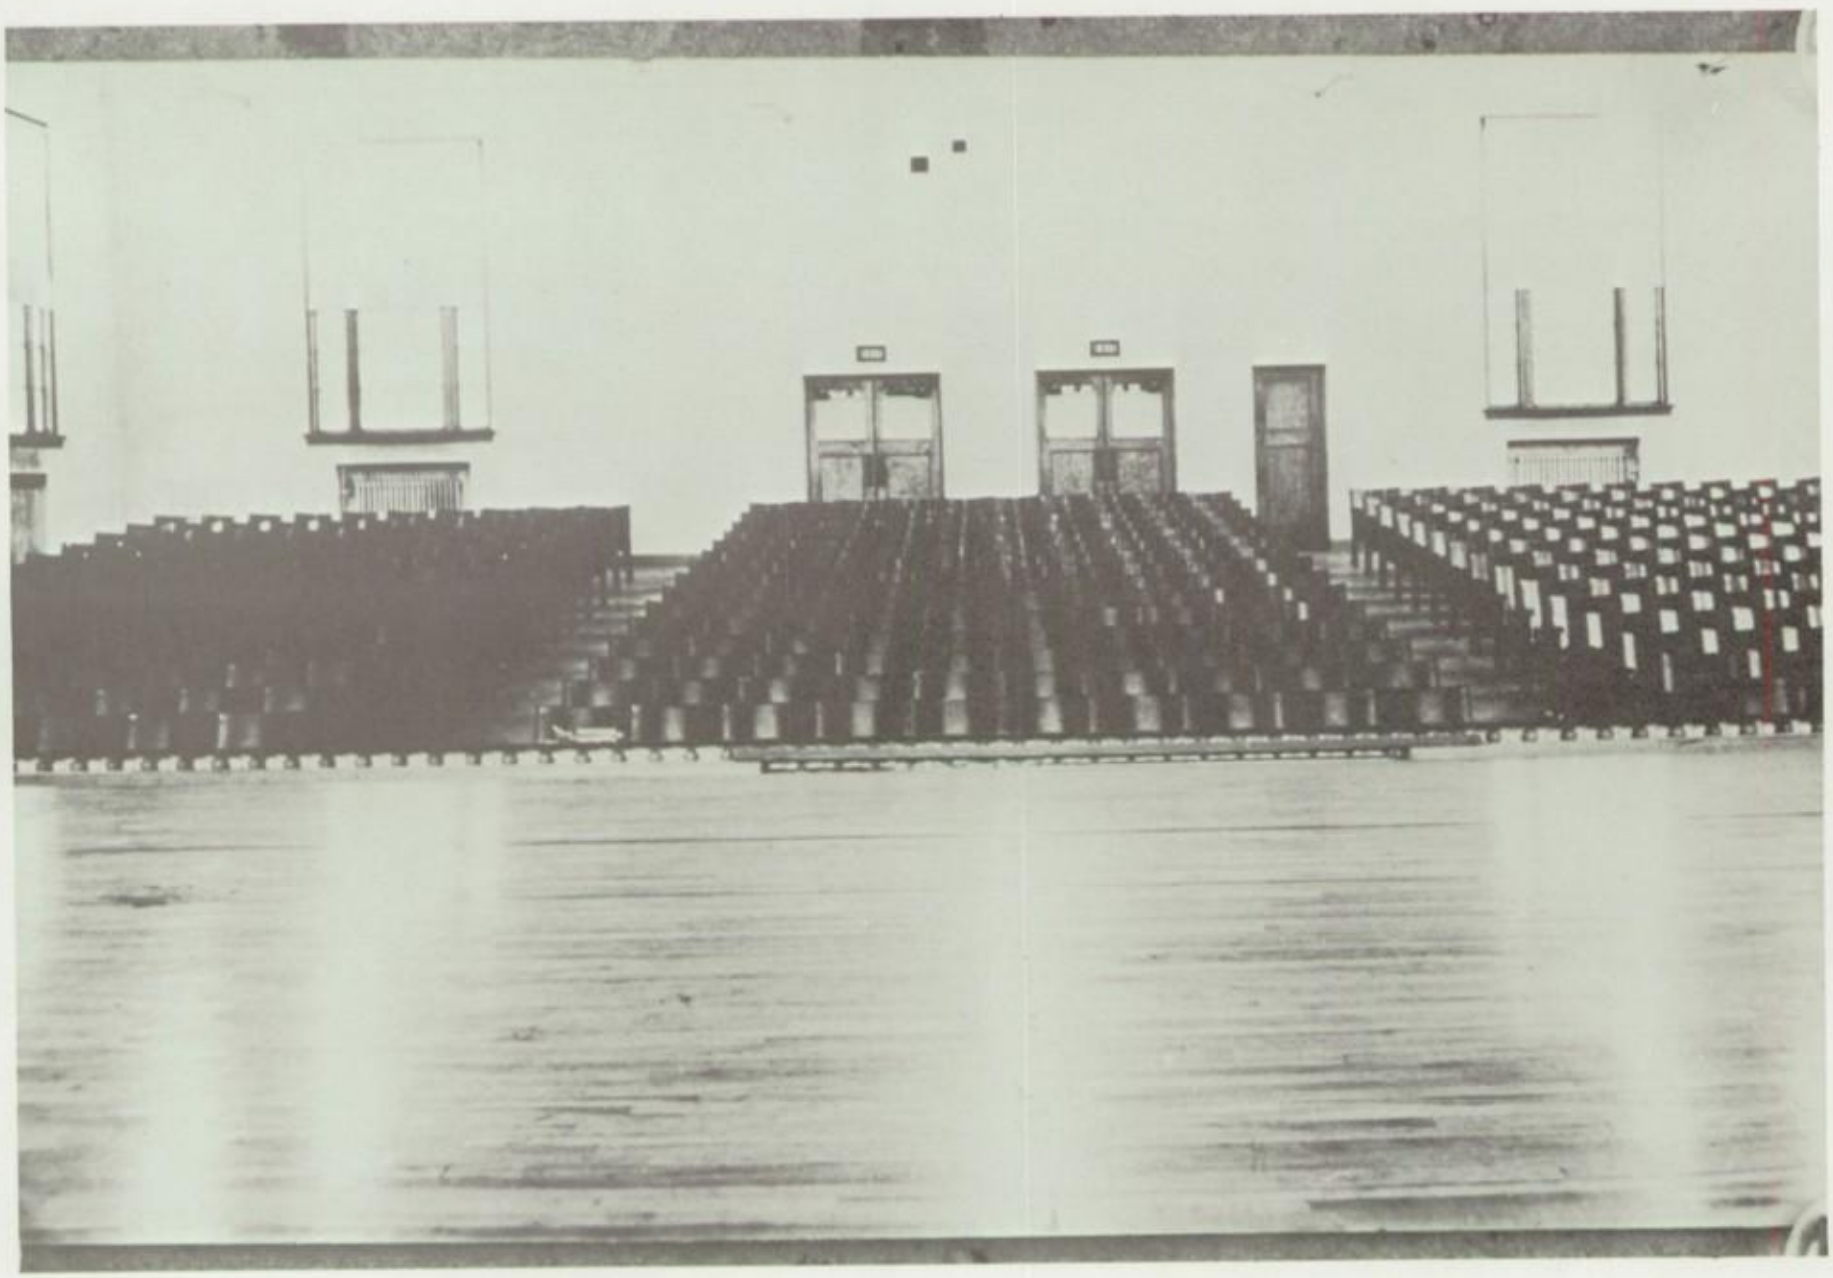
One room, if it could be considered a room, that has changed very little in the past forty years is our famous auditorium, alias gymnasium, alias stage!

As you can plainly see in the pictures on this page and on the opposite page, the pictures, as well as the subjects, remain relatively the same. The windows have been sealed up and painted over, new seats have replaced the old ones and of course a brand shiny gym floor covers the warped floor of 1932.

The stage has been a showplace for several plays that have entertained the student body of Saltsburg as well as the community. It has been trampled upon by many an aspiring athlete "shooting for two" or "trying for a pin". And in recent years by the Trojanette Volleyball team who did their best to spike, bump and set. The auditorium held the entire student body within its four walls for countless assemblies and programs ranging from Karate demonstrations to a traveling show couple who entertained us by singing medlies from Broadway shows.

The auditorium has also been a hiding place, a place to go when there's no where else to go, a place where a cunning student who just evaded forty minutes of sure education (skipped class) can remain safely and inconspiculously until they are relieved from the anticipation of getting caught when the bell rings. It was like that then and is still like that now!

The stage and auditorium as it looked in 1937.



One aspect of Saltsburg high school that has changed drastically from then to now, in fact from year to year is—people. This is true everywhere, not just of Saltsburg. People are forever changing, growing, and leaving the halls of Saltsburg High School. Replacing these familiar faces are new faces, strange faces, who will change and grow also as the others leave Saltsburg High School.

Above are four beautiful faces who have long since left Saltsburg High. In 1937 they were familiar faces of the High School and they urged many a Trojan team to victory with their persuading cheers. Below are some of our cheerleaders of 1977; they still coax the Trojans to victory. They are now familiar faces at SHS but in forty years they will be replaced by new faces who will be familiar to the students of 2017!

The Saltsburg cheering squad of 1937.

In this, our 50th edition of the La Saltianna . . . There is no possible way to accurately compare others with now, without mentioning the progress of women of the world, in general and more specifically, the young women who attended Saltsburg High School.

In 1927, girls were cheerleaders who wanted to become homemakers and mothers. The only real careers open to them were nursing, secretarial and teaching professions. They wore long skirts that did not expose their knees, very often weren't permitted to make decisions on their own and usually didn't speak unless spoken to. Young women were far too fragile to participate in sports, unless to wave a pom-pom at boy's athletic events. They took home-economics courses all of their school years and seldom could be found holding class offices with the titles of president or vice-president, not to mention holding one of these offices in any of the extra-curricular clubs and organizations. That was then. Now, well things are "different" to say the least. Over the past 50 years, females have developed from a fragile figure unable to voice her own opinions to a strong minded, intelligent individual. And most important - an equal. As the photographs on the opposite page prove, young women are finally active and able to participate in a wide range of activities, sports and organizations previously dominated by young men. Sure, many are still cheerleaders and many only want to be homemakers and mothers. But, many want to be doctors, lawyers and truck drivers! And what is most important - they have a choice, and it's their decision. They can still be mothers if they like but they can also have a career in so many of the fields that were once closed to them.

Young women can express their opinions and be listened to. They can wear slacks, they can carry their share of the load, they can be president or vice-president of their class or of an organization. They can be active in athletics and have their own teams just as their male counterparts do. And ultimately . . . They can graduate from high school anticipating a fair chance, an equal chance in the world. Without discrimination, doing what she has decided to do with her life, not what a previously male oriented society had decided for her.

Then. . . it was only a dream that a few young ladies struggled for, for the future generations. Now . . . it is real. We all have a choice . . . in the world . . . in Saltsburg High School.

EXIT

Then - Men of Troy 1937

Now - The "Bearded Wonder" in action

Then - Coach Sadecky 1971

Now - Gary Shaulis and Tim Ercole show concern from the side lines

After crowding fifty years of women's progress and achievements onto the preceeding pages, its only fair to mention another half of the student body - The Mighty Men of Troy. The young men who have dedicated themselves to the Saltsburg Sports program from then until now.

Clad in outdated helmets, unpadded uniforms and football shoes that resembled work boots, the 1937 Trojan football team (ABOVE) led Saltsburg High School to thrilling victories and not so thrilling defeats.

Much is the same of the succeeding generations of Saltsburg Trojans, regardless of the sport. The uniforms, the plays and practices constantly change, along with those athletic souls who braved weeks of grueling practices, striving, struggling to "make the team."

Yes, so much has changed in Saltsburg's athletic program, including a certain coach's appearance (photo's ABOVE LEFT) yet-one thing remains constant. It is the spirit, the dedication displayed by today's Trojans and their predeccesors and hopefully by the Trojan athletes to come.

As a member of the 50th anniversary La Saltianna staff, I tried to capture the past fifty years through words and pictures, I observed the world, outside the doors of Saltsburg High School (PICTURED LEFT) trying to conceive what it was like then, knowing what it is like now and contemplating on what it will be like in the future.

Perhaps the answer to the future can be found below, in the hearts, minds, and spirits of the children in the grade schools, in Kindergarten, the class of 1989 for instance, and- in fifty years, if you can imagine, the graduating class of 2027(?) Yes, you can imagine! After all, it was great imaginations that created everything that has happened in the past 50 years, not only in Saltsburg, but in the world. And it will be even greater imagination that will create our next 50 years, our future.

A high school generation of the future- the class of 1989.

Practice began in August for the Trojans '76 Girls Basketball team, and what a team! Under the firm guidance of Mrs. Mary Lee Cunningham and Miss Linda Pearson the girls combined their efforts to bring another winning season to Saltsburg.

Team Spirit and Enthusiasm were prevalent as the girls put to work the skills that many hours of drills developed.

The Trojanettes combined their hard work with Fun, Food and Fellowship.

Cheerleaders have often been called "People Pepper-Uppers." And Saltsburg cheerleaders are no exception! They held pep rallies for the football games and sponsored the 1976 Homecoming festivities and dance. In the fall they entered the 14th annual Indiana County cheering competition. They provided a "Fifties Day" in which all the students were asked to dress for the occasion and provided prizes for the best outfits. The day ended in a pep rally with the cheerleaders leading the crowd in old fashioned cheers. The enthusiasm stuck with the team, leading them to a victorious Homecoming that night. Their spirit and support lasted not only through football season but also through Girl's and Guy's basketball season and wrestling.

We're gonna change from zone to man to man press. You guys gotta hustle. Let's go!

The 1976-77 edition of Trojan basketball was somewhat of a desperate season. The team put forth much hard effort and long hours of practice. The end of the season did bring brighter moments, however, as they won four out of seven. We seem to have a good crop of young players coming up, so the future does look brighter.

You don't scare me, this is going for two points.

One down and four to go.

Call the foul, ref!

Emotion- a strong feeling of any kind, such as pleasure, joy or enthusiasm.

The pleasure, the gratifying experience of being a member of "the" class . . . of '77.

The enthusiasm, the intense school spirit generated by our strong loyalty and devotion to S.H.S.

The joy, the sheer enchantment of being crowned with the honor of "Homecoming Queen" bestowed upon you by fellow students.

Homecoming '76

It was a night to remember! The Trojans and the Vikings battled it out on the field at half-time, a midst a colorful display of umbrellas. As the evening came to a climax, Mr. Sell crowned our 1976 Homecoming Queen, Lisa Stevenson. Insuring that the evening was a total success, the Trojans trampled previously unbeaten Blacklick Valley 12-6!

Music Provides Memories

After the game, came the annual homecoming dance. The cheerleaders did a terrific job decorating the stage, creating an appearance that will be remembered by the Class of "77" for years to come. Many students and alumni enjoyed dancing to the beat of the band "Rampage"

Winter Wonderland

One of the memorable events of the 76-77 school year was our unplanned mid-term break. The winter was termed as the worst ever. The sub-zero temperatures and deep snows gave us one of those "old fashioned" winters. The gas shortage gave us afternoon basketball games, a late Sweater Hop and an excuse to get our sweaters out of mothballs.

An Ending Or A Beginning?

The year comes to an end. The days of fun and fellowship are over. A new life looms ahead and yesterday is just a memory.

The friends we've made, the plans we've laid, and the good times we've left behind are all recorded here, as forty nine other La Saltianna's have done, for your enjoyment now, and your pleasure in the years to come.

Enjoy these precious moments to remember!
